GMSCPP
University of Louisville

At its October 13, 2009, meeting, the Committee on Equal Opportunities requested that University of Louisville Governor's Minority Student College Preparation Program representatives attend the February 2010 meeting to provide additional detail regarding the operation of the university's program. University representatives are requested to address a number of questions regarding student participation in the program. CEO asked that the university address the following:

- What is the process used by UofL to identify and enroll African American and other minority students who participate in the GMSCPP?
- What local groups and organizations assist in identifying program participants?
- Does the university ever deny applicants who wish to participate in the program? Is there a waiting list? If so, how do applicants gain access to the program when space becomes available?
- What is the nature and amount of resources, all sources including non-financial, used in conjunction with financial support provided by CPE? What is the total financial support for the program; where does it come from; what is the program staffing; what is the expenditure per student served by the program; and what resources are used to support parent-related activities?

UofL administrators, Mr. Ralph Fitzpatrick, Ph.D., and Mr. Daniel Hall, J.D., will discuss the program and respond to questions February 16. The university will provide written materials, if any, at the meeting.
